BULLYING, DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT PROCEDURE
1	Early intervention is encouraged as a way of solving the issue without a formal report, investigation or discipline being taken against an individual. Early intervention can be achieved through an individual self-managing a situation or seeking help from someone else to raise the issue. Self-management is encouraged as a first step to resolve an issue.
2	Self-management is an informal approach to address workplace bullying. It involves the individual who experiences the negative behaviour directly telling the other person that the behaviour is not welcome, and it should not happen again. It should be done in a calm and professional way (e.g., telling the person about the impact of the behaviour and asking them not to do it again). If the behaviour continues or gets worse, a formal report should be made.
3	If an individual does not feel comfortable or confident to manage a situation themselves, the issue should be raised with management
4	The Nominated Supervisor or responsible person will manage the complaint process (unless the complaint is about them)
5	Where a serious allegation has been made, an investigation will be the first step taken
6	Fairness and impartiality will prevail throughout the investigation process
7	When management approach an individual directly about their behaviour they will record the action/s taken
8	Management will interview all parties involved, and if required witnesses

9	Management will notify the parties of the investigation
10	Management will seek sufficient evidence and documentation to ensure the concern can be investigated appropriately
11	Management will then review all documents and evidence
12	Management will provide the respondent with a summary of allegations
13	Management will prepare a report outlining the complaint, how the investigation was conducted, relevant facts and findings
14	Management will provide the respondent with the opportunity to respond to the complaint/concern
15	Management will then make a decision based on the investigation report as to whether the claim has been proven, proven in part or not proven
16	The decision along with a summary of the reason for making the decision, including what actions will follow will be provided to the complainant and respondent
17	Management will take all reasonable steps to implement and monitor the actions required to resolve the issue raised
18	Management will keep records of all steps completed within this procedure
